

Elsie May's is closing

Last Day: Saturday 21 January

I've got some sad news for you all. I've had to make the very difficult decision to close Elsie May's café and this Saturday (21 January 2023) will be our last day.

I can't begin to tell you how truly devastated I am that it has come to this. I've tried my absolute hardest to keep the doors open but sadly my best isn't enough to beat the financial pressures of the current climate.

I want to thank you all from the bottom of my heart of all the generosity and support you have shown for Elsie May's. I've met some amazing people and I'm truly honoured to have been a part of such a wonderful community.

The biggest thanks of all goes to my incredible team. There are really no words to describe how lucky I've been to have worked with all of them - thanks goes to them for all their hard work, dedication, kindness, memories and laughter. They helped to make Elsie May's the place I always imagined it would be and for that, I am so very grateful.

However, as one door closes, another one opens. After a bit of time off, I'll be back with an announcement about the bakery school which I'm still planning on doing but it won't be at 58 Market Square.

This week, we'll be open from 9am until 3.30pm on Thursday 19 January, Friday 20 January & Saturday 21 January (last day open).

Do come in and show my team some love & support for all their hard work. Sending lots of love & hugs to all of you

Naomi x